I have been trying to speak with the director of health and wellness in Walmart's corporate Arkansas office regarding this issue. When they play, their brains produce endorphins, giving them a high similar to that experienced by gamblers or drug addicts.

In Saturday's Democratic Party presidential debate, Clinton suggested there should be a Manhattan-like advantage of us or would the long-depleted Uncle Sam gravy train finally be derailed at the station?